JASON C. BOOZER A LUNATIC.

Letter from Mr. Lander, of Williamston College.

WAS LIBERATED THIS AFTERNOON

And Will be Sent Home—His Wife
Almost Crazy With Grief—The Charge Against Him Here.

Light has been thrown upon the case of Jason C. Boozer, confined in jail here, charged with larceny of a keg of wine from the Southern depot, a short time since.

Attorney D. Schenck, Jr., has received the following letter from Dr. Samuel Lander, president of Williamston Female College, at Williamston, S. C.:

"My neighbor, Jason C. Boozer, is reported to be confined in your county jail. I know not for what. I do not know what bearing on the case this note may have, if any; but he is well known here to be a deranged man with lucid intervals; and, from recent previous reports from him, I have no doubt he is now in one of his crazy spells. Is it possible to have him ordered home without a tedious or costly legal process? His poor wife is driven almost to derangement by his irregular and threatening conduct; and, of course, she is now in great distress in her utter inability to interfere in the case. She is a very worthy lady, but worse than poor, because she has to support herself, her children, and to a large extent her husband also. I am sure, dear cousin, that if anything can be done to mitigate the distressing nature of this case, or to diminish the expense of its solution, you will take pleasure in rendering any help within your reach. Your cousin,

S. LANDER."

Mr. Schenck will turn the letter over to Major Stedman, attorney for Mr. Boozer. The mayor has agreed to take Boozer's recognizance for his appearance on condition that some one will get him passage home. He will be released today. It is thought Superintendent Williams, of the Southern, will be able to secure a pass for him.

Later in the day Mayor Nelson received a telegram from Mr. Boozer's family saying some one would come to take him back to his home. So soon as the party arrives Mr. Boozer will accordingly be turned over to him.

The Horse Was Sober.

One of the strangest things in the world is the fact that a man will drink whiskey until it gets the better of him and he is turned into a brute, yet such sights are witnessed daily. This afternoon one of these poor wretches was driving a horse hitched to a buggy along North Green street, when his liquor began to take effect and he went to sleep.

The fellow curled up on the seat of the buggy, and to all appearances was as limp as a dish-rag. A large sun umbrella was fastened to the buggy, and in some way it closed up around the man's head, but he heeded it not and slept on.

The horse took its time, grazing as it moved slowly along. After the stupor wore off somewhat the fellow awakened just in time to save the buggy from going over into a ditch by the side of the street.

Buys a Farm.

Mr. James B. Taylor, who moved here a year or two ago, and who resides on Arlington street, has purchased ex-sheriff John W. Cook's farm, a mile beyond Guilford College. This is a splendid farm, having a new dwelling and good substantial out-houses on the place.

Mr. Cook will move to another farm of his and Mr. Taylor will probably move his family out soon.

The Lawn Party Last Night.

The lawn party at Rev. Mr. Crawford's last night was a most pleasant affair. The light shower of rain kept many away, but a fairly good crowd was in attendance to enjoy the evening.

A special feature of the occasion was the parlor concert. The music was very fine, and showed that those who took part possessed musical talent of no ordinary kind.

A Runaway.

A horse belonging to S. S. Haithcock ran away this morning and tore up a buggy, to which he was hitched, pretty badly. Some of the lady members of Mr. Haithcock's family had just returned from a drive, and the horse was standing in their lot on Pearson street when he became excited and ran.

BEAUTIFUL AS WELL AS USEFUL.

Mr. Vanstory's Establishment Since
It Has Been Remodelled.

The work on C. M. Vanstory's building, which has been in progress for several weeks, is about completed. The store front is artistic and a thing of beauty; it is wholly of plate glass, there being four windows in the front of the building and two on each side of the vestibule entrance. The total of plate glass in the front of the first floor is 1,000 square feet.

The show windows are handsomely finished in oak to match the large neckwear case of glass and oak 14 feet long and four feet high just on the inside. The entire first floor, 50 by 100 feet, is the main retail room of the establishment. The second floor is divided into four departments; one large room is to be used for retail in connection with the first floor; another room will be used exclusively for wholesale; the third room will be used as a thoroughly appointed tailoring establishment in connection with a large room on the third floor where the dyeing and cleaning will be done.

The fourth room, on the second floor, fronts on Elm street, is fitted with plate glass windows in front and will be rented. We venture to say that there is not a handsomer front in North Carolina than that of this building. It is directly in line with the gratifying tendency of among the best business men to have an eye to beauty as well as utility in the fitting of their establishments. A short time ago two prominent citizens from another city in this state were walking up South Elm and taking in the business houses. They came to the agreement when the inspection was finished that our clothing houses were second to none in the state. If this was true then it is certainly true now, that the work on Mr. Vanstory's place has been finished.

WEYLER VS. GENERAL LEE.

Spain Cannot Conquer
Brave Little Cuba.

GEN. LEE INTERVIEWS M'KINLEY.

Grounds for Recognizing Cubans as Belligerents—The Spanish Government Cannot End the War.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—General Lee and President McKinley had the first consultation on the Cuban question this morning. It was long and strictly private. Assistant Secretary of State Day was also admitted to the conference.

General Lee told the President that in his opinion the Spanish government cannot end the war. The insurgents are meeting with such success as to practically demonstrate that a state of war exists and to furnish sufficient grounds for recognizing the belligerent rights of the Cubans.

Mr. McKinley was so bent on getting all the information possible on the subject that he closed the doors to the office seekers and gave his undivided attention to the report of Consul-General Lee.

TELEGRAPHERS VISIT US.

Returning From the Nashville Exposition.

The manager of the McAdoo House received a telegram this morning ordering breakfast for a crowd of telegraph operators who would arrive on the Chattanooga-Norfolk special. The train was about two hours late, and the telegraphers were in a condition to do full justice to the meal prepared by Messrs Perkins & Hodgins.

The telegraphers, of whom there were about thirty, had been taking in the Tennessee Centennial at Nashville and were on their return to their homes in New York and New Jersey. They traveled in style, having a special car, and stopping at whatsoever town they like.

Their short stay here gave them limited time for taking in our city, but they expressed themselves as being well pleased with what they saw.

Mexican Lynchers Still in Jail.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 18.—The twenty members of the mob that lynched the assailant of President Diaz are still in jail here and have not been released. They are all locked up "in comunicado" pending a strict inquiry which will be made.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 18, 1897.

You can get the telegraphic news twelve hours earlier in THE TELEGRAM than in any paper that gets into Greensboro, and for four dollars a year less.

THE Charlotte Observer says: "It is becoming more and more apparent with every issue of the Populist State papers, that the policy of next year's campaign will be to inflame the people with cries about 'monopoly,' 'corporation,' 'railroads,' so that they will close their ears to the exposure of the infamies of fusion government in North Carolina." Unless indications are very misleading, the people of the state are not in a humor to be soothed, by even the siren voice of Mr. Butler, into forgetfulness of the inequities of the bifurcated government that is striving so strenuously to perpetuate itself. A man may buy a gold brick once on outside appearances, but when a second bargain is offered he will insist on boring it in several places before handing over the purchase money.

REPUBLICANS believe that a protective tariff is a cure for everything, from flea bites to treasury deficits, so they said, "put the Dingley bill through and everything will be as lovely as a picnic." So far the only thing this great scheme has accomplished is to dig deep holes in the treasury.—Monroe Journal.

No, no; that is not the end of the digging business by any means; it is also digging a hole in every man's pocket who uses food, clothing or tools. By and by the citizen will do some digging and the hole he will excavate will hold the Dingley tariff and the broken fragments of Dingleyism itself.

IS IT possible that Greensboro is to be treated to an episode similar to that of Shelby in regard to the appointment of a postmaster? The brethren should not forget the scriptural injunction about dwelling together in peace and harmony. THE TELEGRAM stands ready at any and all times to pour the whole contents of a Standard oil tank on the waters if they grow too troubled. We just do mortally hate to see a house preparing to split itself even if it is not our house.

THE fate of the man who attempted to kill President Diaz shows that the Mexicans are rapidly adopting American customs. If a few bank cashiers will now obsequiously in this direction and all of the papers will raise the "greatest nation on earth" racket, we shall be ready to acknowledge, with a proper degree of condescension, that Mexico may make something of herself yet.

THE latest development in pie politics at Washington is the move of Secretary Gage to establish an honorary service roll for employees of the treasury department. The next step we presume will be to retire a number of the present employees to this honorary roll and thus leave more places vacant for the faithful. Truly "love will find a way," even if it is only love of pie.

THE Cherokee Indians, of Arkansas, are preparing to hold their annual fish festival. It would be fitting if the fish man of the Charlotte Observer would attend.

So dangerous were the Hungarians at Lattimer that twenty-eight of those who ran at the first fire, are not to be found and they are supposed to be running still.

Mr. Platt has decided that a Republican victory with Mr. Low the nominee for Mayor would come too high.

BOOKS OF TODAY.

Some Publications Soon to Be—A Parsian Novel of Note.

The long-awaited Murray edition of Lord Byron is now promised for this autumn.

Ian Maclaren's second theological work, "The Potter's Wheel," will soon be out.

The October Harper's Magazine will open with the first installment of Spanish John, by William McLennan a novel of adventure, dealing with the fortunes of the Scotch Pretenders to the throne of England. The action takes place partly in the army of the King of Spain operating in Italy, and partly in Scotland.

R. D. Blackmore's "Darial," his new romance of Surrey; Henry Seton Merriman's "In Kendar's Tents;" George Macdonald's "Salted with Fire," the story of a minister; W. Clark Russell's "The Two Captains;" Amelia E. Barr's "The King's Highway;" Max Pemberton's "The Queen of the Jesters;" and Joseph Hocking's "The Birthright" are new romances announced by Dodd, Mead & Co. for autumn publication.

This month's issue of the North Carolina Journal is quite up to the high standard of the initial number of that periodical. Among the papers is one by Edward P. Moses of the Winthrop Normal College at Rock Hill, S. C., on "Primary Reading"; an entertaining discussion of "History in the Primary Grades" by Annie M. Williams, of Reidsville public schools; "A Hint for Nature Study in the Country Schools" by Miss Haliburton of our own Normal School, and an able paper on "The Paragraph in English Composition" by C. Alphonso Smith of Louisiana University. Professor Joyner talks discriminatingly on "Poetry for Children."

SPEAKING of Maurice Barres' new novel, "Les Deralines," which is attracting a good deal of attention, both in France and out of it, the Paris correspondent of the New York Times, writes as follows:

It is a masterly piece of analysis and a clever picture of some of the less known phases of that ceaseless struggle for life, of which politics in France almost exclusively consists. We are introduced to many of the political figures that preceded the appearance, or perhaps it would be more just to call it the outbreak of Boulangism. Boulangism itself was so sordid and dreary a phenomenon that M. Barres has been wise to bring his work to a conclusion with the death and funeral of Victor Hugo. The "brave General's" popularity was only just beginning at that date. However, the elements of the Boulangist movement, that strange mixture of Chauvinism, of social and moral discontent with the existing order of things, of drawing Anarchism, were already there, and M. Barres analyzes them very trenchantly and well.

His most striking character is that of Racadot, a young provincial graduate, who starts a radical paper and ends by assassinating his mistress for the sake of her jewels, with the proceeds of which he hopes to continue his political propaganda. He is the type of the discontented young man of good education, whose life has been a failure, who suffers from that 'spleen' in its most exaggerated form which of late years seems to have crossed the Channel and invaded to a disquieting degree the sunny land of France. Racadot is guillotined, and with his execution the story comes to an end. This personage has also been drawn from life. Shortly after the death of Boulanger a murder was committed in Paris by two ruffians, one of whom held a university degree, and had once been a familiar figure in the Quartier Latin. He had even delivered various public lectures on the struggle for life and the right to kill for the sake of self-preservation. This was before the principles of militant Anarchism had been made familiar to the public by the outrages committed by Ravachol, Emil Henry and Angiolillo. The "bachelor assassin," as he was called, expiated his crime upon the guillotine; his companion, who was judged to have been subject to his influence, being condemned to penal servitude for life.

Racadot is not quite so vulgar a criminal, but his motives are much the same. He is a provincial from the frontier town of Nancy, which is M. Barres' birth place, and his attitude toward Paris, the capital, is admirably described from the point of view of that jealous provincialism which seems to be the leading sentiment of Nancy, and in Racadot's tempestuous nature helps to make up his budget of wrongs against society. This provincialism is a fault to which the author must himself plead guilty in a certain measure, but he is, I am told, disposed to be proud of it rather than not, and at one time decentralization formed one of the principal items of his political programme.

A Woman Preaches on the Street.

This morning a woman preacher took her stand on the sidewalk on the east side of the court house and proceeded to hold religious services. She had an ordinary dinner bell which she rang to draw a crowd. But the bell was not loud enough, or something else was more attractive, for she succeeded in getting together only a very small crowd.

However she sang a song, read a portion of scripture from her Bible and then preached. When she was through preaching she got down on her knees in the dirt and dust and prayed.

Judge Purnell is a new Judge and was appointed to succeed the late Judge Seymour. He is a most excellent man and a learned jurist.

A Great Improvement.

Street commissioner Sam Brown, is just finishing a splendid job on North Spring street. The hill has been dug down and the street properly graded. It is a wonderful improvement and the people who reside on this street are well pleased with it.

Mr. Brown is what you would call a hustler anyway, and when he gets a force of hands at work on a street a great improvement always follows.

Mr. Bynum Will Not Sign.

Solicitor Bynum informs us that he will not sign the petition to the Governor for the pardon of Newlin, as stated in yesterday's paper. We may have misunderstood the attorney for the defense who gave us the facts. In any case, we had no intention of misrepresenting Mr. Bynum and make the correction accordingly.

The Greensboro Juniors who went to High Point yesterday to participate in the educational rally of the Jr. O. U. A. M., enjoyed themselves immensely. There were councils which had larger representations present than the Greensboro Council, but none enjoyed the occasion more than our boys. They are loud in their praise of the High Point boys' hospitality.

The boys are especially proud of the speeches made by two of their members Dr. Melver and Rev. Mr. Thomas. They were both superb addresses and made a fine impression.

A Statement From Mr. Bridges.

Mr. Benjamin M. Bridges, who was indorsed for postmaster at the late meeting at Bogart's Hall, asks us to state that he claims the meeting which indorsed him was regularly called. He further declares that he is willing to abide by the decision of any primary or convention called in the regular way, if irregularity is claimed in the Bogart Hall meeting. Mr. Bridges thinks our report of the meeting did him some injustice; we, therefore, give his version. It is not the policy of THE TELEGRAM to do any man an injustice, however slight.
